WAITRESS

Whatcha' want hon?

JANE

Nothing right now.

WAITRESS

Ya' aint sit here for free, so what can I get'cha?

JANE

One cup of coffee I guess.

WAITRESS

Nice choice. You got money?

Jane nods. She puts her purse down and starts to play with her napkin. The waitress places the coffee in front of her. Jane sees SAM walk in, he's in his early thirties and has the weathered but ruggedly handsome look of a man who works on the docks. He and his friends sit at the bar and exchange bars.

DREAM

SLO MO Sam walks toward Jane's booth and sits across from her.

SAM

I'm so glad you found me.

Jane no longer has the look of an unwashed homeless woman - her hair is teased to a ridiculous height - she's wearing an evening gown, and heavy make-up.

JANE

Me too.

WAITRESS

What's that?
